The friendly sea urchin

Once a sea urchin was moving along when he saw a small school of fish. "Hello," said the sea urchin.

"Eek!" and some fish ran.

"Awww" said the sea urchin.

So the sea urchin traveled along and saw a hermit crab.

"Hello," said the sea urchin, but the crab ignored him.

"Hey, want a hug?" asked the sea urchin.

"No!" yelled the crab rudely.

So the sea urchin traveled on for what seemed like a week until he saw a pipe. The sea urchin did not know that up the pipe led to a touch tank. So the sea urchin climbed when the sea urchin, longing to give a hug got out he said:

"This is paradise!"

So the sea urchin stuck himself on the wall.

This is why if you put your finger(s) in between a sea urchin's spikes he will hug you.